Stamar Packaging Expands

Addison packaging and supply firm merges with Package Supply & Design LLC of Memphis, TN

(Addison, IL) - (1/26/10) Stamar Packaging, Incorporated today announced the company has merged the business and employees of Package Supply & Design, LLC of Memphis, TN into the Stamar organization. Terms of the merger are undisclosed.

“This is an aggressive market expansion,” said Larry A. Stein, Executive Vice President, Stamar Packaging. “More importantly, this is a merger that provides us with even greater ability to service customers locally and nationwide.”

Both Stamar Packaging and Package Supply & Design (PSD) are full line distributors of packaging supplies with facilities in Illinois, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Stamar also operates facilities in Texas and California. Stamar has been in business for 29 years, and Package Supply since January 2008, although the PSD Management Team has more than 250 + years of combined experience in the packaging distribution industry.

“The packaging industry is an extremely competitive environment,” said Joseph Tedesco, President, Stamar Packaging. “This move strengthens both organizations, enabling us to stay on top of what the customer wants: value-based pricing and value-added services. Stamar Packaging continues to offer the best of both.”

The companies will continue to operate as Stamar Packaging, Inc... No reduction in work force is contemplated. One of the previous owners of Package Supply & Design, Gary A. Milby, joins Stamar as a Vice-President.

Stein said customers of both companies should continue calling the same numbers they have always called to place orders, or place them via the web at www.stamarpkg.com.

“While the name has changed at Package Supply & Design,” said Stein, “the excellent service and value will only improve - for customers of both companies.”
